L. JAY B. TURNEY,
HAVING LEASED THE ABOVE NAMED HOTEL is prepared to accommodate the traveling public and OLD RESIDENCE BOARDERS, in a good style and on the most reasonable terms
The Bennett has been and is determined to make the Bennett as good as the best and better than any public house in Salem The House will soon complete some important improvements, which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort and intends to merit and hopes to receive his share of patronage
He has secured the services of "Charley" (known to be the best cook in Salem and one of the best in the whole country) and other competent persons to manage the culinary department and is determined to set as good a table as can be found anywhere—not in cheap-trap pomp and show flummery and fine furniture, but in an abundant supply of the very best the market affords
His bar room will be kept warmed and lighted and well supplied with newspapers periodicals and other suitable reading matter and kept in a manner which will make it an agreeable resort
In short he intends making an effort to please all who stop at the Bennett House And he most respectfully requests his friends everywhere to give the old and well known stand at least one more trial before concluding they can do as well elsewhere and promises if they are not well treated, and properly cared for and at reasonable figures it will not be the fault of the public's most obedient and most humble servant

A Radical Democratic Paper on the President's Message.

To show in what light those Democrats whose ideas are not "cabined cribbed and confined by matters of expediency and policy regard the President we give place to the following article from the Umatilla Press Unlike some other Democrat e papers here and elsewhere the Press is not afraid to speak what it thinks and in its views thus given without equivocation it is undoubtedly supported by a vast majority of its party We notice that the Herald censures the Press for publishing this article The difference between the two papers is that the former is anxious to equivocate and conceal its real sentiments while the latter is no orator as Brutus is but like Mark Antony, "talks right on" Here is the Press' article

President Johnson has not only failed to grasp the issues now before the people with the dignity of a statesman or honesty of a patriot but has absolutely avoided the only question that can, under the present condition of affairs, divide the political sentiment of the Northern States He says, if the admission of loyal members to seats in the respective houses of Congress was wise and expedient a year ago it is no less wise and expedient now, and all through his message, wherever the admission of members to either house is mentioned, he places particular stress upon that word "loyal" virtually conceding what according to his theory but not his practice, is impossible If those States are restored to their original position as integral portions of the United States then each and every man be he ex Confederate soldier member of secession conventions, or private citizens—untried and unconvicted by a court of law, duly established and acting under the provisions of the Constitution as existing at the time the treasonable or disloyal act were alleged to have been committed—has a free and unqualified right when elected by the people of his State, to take his seat, and in every respect to be recognized as a member of the Congress of the United States The President stultifies himself, and concedes, as a matter of fact, what he denies in the most emphatic manner as principle He repents and endorses as his own theory, the proclamation of Abraham Lincoln of September 22, 1862, and states that it was then solemnly proclaimed and declared that hereafter as heretofore the war will be prosecuted for the object of practically restoring the Constitutional relation between the United States and each of the States, and the people thereof, in which State that relation is or may be suspended or disturbed" The war has resulted in the success of the Federal armies, and each State lately in rebellion, and each citizen acknowledges, and desires to return to obedience to the laws and Constitution of the Federal Government. If that be the result the question of loyalty and disloyalty is obsolete—it is no longer debatable—and every man not disfranchised by due course of law, under laws, and by courts previously established, has a full and unqualified right to a seat in Congress whenever elected by a majority of the voters of this State. But the President while having declared throughout the length and breadth of the land, that the States lately in rebellion are restored to their former condition as members of the Federal Union, like a craven cow and panders to the dilibera te and diabolical views of a body of men whom he has before, and often declared, was an unconstitutional Congress and admits that such a body has a right to reject any member elect whom they, from their own standpoint, shall consider disloyal In one instance he declares there are none disloyal, and in another admits that a corrupt and unconstitutional body may, by the ayes and nays, can create disloyal men Does he consider the officers and soldiers of the Confederate army disloyal? So do the Radicals Does he consider the members of the Confederate Congress—the State Legislatures—Foreign Ministers from the Confederacy, and those who aided with their pens and purses Loyal men? So does Congress And where else, and to what other class will he go for loyal Representatives, or what other than those will be find in the South? One is as disloyal as the other Ninety nine-hundredths of the people of the South were obnoxious to the charge of aiding and assisting the rebellion and fighting for their independence Then why talk of disloyalty? The President declares that those States are now equal members of the Confederation, but that a radical, brainless, heartless Congress may reject whomsoever those States send, and thereby admonish them, that none but persons loyal to the United States, will be allowed a voice in the legislative councils of the nation He reminds us very much of an old deacon, who was given to the use of long words without knowing their signification He believed, he said, "in the purity of religion" Who does not? Andrew Johnson wants loyal members to have their seats Who are the loyal men? Let him define his position, and then, when we understand his policy of reconstruction, we may be in favor of it So long as he deals in stale platitudes, whether in the shape of stump harangues or the more deliberate and moderate composition of a State paper, the people will be mystified as to their duty, and will fail to recognize him as a leader—as a pacificator or revolutionist. His firmness seems to have been but the ebullition of a disordered brain—the motive power that produced his White House speech seems to have been withdrawn He has most emphatically "stooped to conquer," and we shall not be surprised if a Republican caucus should admit him once more to their fond embrace by a similar vote to that which permitted Raymond, of New York, so signally to disgrace himself We do not ask any one to accept our opinion of this document, or to be influenced by our judgment, but if our readers can see aught in it that looks toward a settlement of the difficulties that are thickening around the pathway of the American people they will excel us in drawing upon imagination for consolation in the hour of trial.

STORY ABOUT MISS BRADDON —The London correspondent of the World relates the following When "Lady Audley's Secret" was accepted by the publishers it was settled and advertised that it should appear in three volumes but when the book was printed it was found that it contained two volumes and ten pages. What was to be done? The book was announced for a certain day and that certain day was nearly at hand Not an hour was to be lost, and the tidings were broken to Miss Braddon who, after the first moment of surprise, asked "How long can you give me to fill up the remaining blank pages" "Right days, at the utmost" "You shall have them, said Miss Braddon

The messenger left her with doubts on his mind but, true to her word Miss Braddon had finished the desired 300 pages and delivered them to her publishers four days afterwards Nor is this the most wonderful part of the affair for not a line was interpolated to the volumes already printed, although the novel was complete in itself but the authoress started from the last sentence and continued with the same vigor, as if she had intended beforehand all that which she was suddenly called upon to add A similar parallel does not occur in the annals of literature, and therefore deserves to be known

NEW TRACKS OF COMMERCE —Few persons are aware that Japan and China are some five thousand miles nearer London and Paris via San Francisco and New York, than by the Peninsular and Oriental" line and that even now by sailing vessel and steamer the time gained by the former over the latter is twenty three days When the Pacific Railroad is built the saving of time will be about forty days The average time now by the English lines between Shanghae and Southampton is sixty five days cost $785 gold

What Englishman thus instead of sweltering in the torrid heats of the Red Sea and Indian Ocean thirty or forty days, where the thermometer runs higher than in any other portion of the known world would not prefer going by a short easy quicker and pleasanter route for half the expense—a route every mile of which, from Japan to Liverpool the delightful cool regions of the North temperate zone

The Remains of a Young Girl Stolen from the Grave

Some time since considerable excitement was occasioned among our German citizens by reports that graves in the Pine Hill Cemetery had been invaded by sacrilegious hands but the statement was denied with great earnestness and the whole matter finally hushed up Occurrences which have transpired within a few days past have again aroused the utmost indignation and a determination is expressed that this time the matter shall be thoroughly investigated and all circumstances connected with it brought to light In the present instance there can be no doubt of the fact that the grave had been rifled Whether further examination will lead to the discovery of other similar outrages is of course as yet a matter of mere conjecture but a feeling of deep alarm has been aroused in the breasts of those who have buried loved friends in the Pine Hill Cemeteries The latter as many of our readers know, are situated about five miles out on the Butavia street plank road the ground being divided into three burial places belonging to the German Catholics, the German Protestants and those of the Hebrew faith It was in the first of these that the occurrence took place

About a year since Colonel W F Berens, well known citizen of Buffalo, lost a daughter Miss Barbara Annie Berens She was about eighteen years of age at the time of her death which occurred on the third day of October, 1865 Her illness was sudden and lasted but a few days the physicians, Drs. Roehester and Barnes, with Dr Pratt in consultation decided that her death was caused by disease of the heart.

On the Sunday following she was temporarily interred in a grave at the northwest side of the burial ground Colonel Berens at the time not being the owner of a lot About a month since he purchased a piece of land in the same cemetery, decorated it with loving hands to receive the remains of his daughter, and on Tuesday last went with his family to the cemetery to exhume the body and consign it to the new resting place prepared for it.

After removing the earth, Sexton Feldman discovered that the lid of the pine box in which the coffin had been placed was loose The circumstance aroused the suspicions of the family, and their worst fears were confirmed when on raising it from the grave and removing the rope the cover slid entirely off, revealing the

The Laggard Party

The Union party, since 1864, has to a great extent, constructed the platforms of its opponents Before the Presidential election of that year its opponents took direct issue with it on every question but since then they have adopted some of its old ideas wrought them into their platforms,—and, in fact, have made their fight mainly on principles which they had opposed until opposition became altogether useless Thus the Democratic party like a laggard behind the party of progress, yielding a tardy and reluctant assent to measures which it formerly combatted When the plot of secession was developed in 1860 the Democratic leaders including their President, generally maintained that resistance was not to be thought of But the Union party determined to fight, and though its opponents, both individually and as an organization, threw every possible obstacle in the way, that party pushed the war to a successful termination And now those who did not want to fight for the Union in 1861, and who at every stage of the struggle embarrassed Mr. Lincoln's administration in all conceivable ways, profess the greatest joy in the result, and claim for themselves the credit of the whole achievement. Again, they resisted every attempt to abolish slavery yet they now rejoice that this disturbing element, this bone of contention, is removed from our politics. In short, they follow along behind the Union party, accepting the measures it once contended for, and trying to win battles on issues which have already had their day.

It is amusing to observe what an multitude of pains these laggards take to establish propositions which they contended against until they were already established Like the pretended philosophers whom Cicero derides, they use a great amount of unnecessary proof in indisputable points. They have discovered that the war was justly waged by the Government to establish its wrongfully disputed authority. They have ascertained that the institution of slavery was a cause of disturbance, a vile and wicked thing which the country did well to remove. They have come to the conclusion that secession is no longer a debatable question, that a State has no right to withdraw, and that the Government of the Union has a right to employ coercion All these things they reiterate in their platforms, announcate in their newspapers and proclaim and defend from the stump. Yet they do not gain victories The trouble is, they are far behind the progress of the times Victories were formerly won on these principles but that was when they were in issue, and there was somebody to combat them The Republican Union party is carrying its opponents along. They now acquiesce in doctrines which they long steadfastly opposed, and it may therefore be presumed that they will eventually acquiesce in measures which they oppose now. They combatted the amendment abolishing slavery; but are now glad that slavery is abolished—and insert resolutions to that effect in all their platforms. In time, they will also approve of the amendment now pending, and profess again to accept the situation. The opposition they are now making is not more energetic than the opposition they kept up during the war In the meantime the Unionists will establish the principles they are contending for, and thus furnish their opponents with more materials out of which to construct their next platforms.

The decalogue contains the best doctrines in the world, but no political party could win a victory by using it as a platform The truths it contains are not disputed anywhere in Christendom, and accordingly it would not be possible to bring parties to an issue on them. Neither can an issue be raised on the principles whichwere settled by our late war The party which does nothing more than acquiescence in facts already established, will not be a successful party. He never wins the race who lags behind.

New Method of Extinguishing Fires —Two European Chemists have invented a new process for extinguishing fires. A sort of cartridge is provided containing the ingredients for doing the work. It is effected by the sudden development of a large quantity of hydrocloric (muriatic) acid gas, well known to be such an enemy to combustion that even a small portion, mixed with atmospheric air, is sufficient either to prevent combustion or to arrest its progress if it has already commenced. "This scientific principle has been known for many years, but it has never been put in so simple a practical form as the present. The cartridges are like brown paper parcels, and are of two sizes. No. 1 is about 8 inches long and 2½ inches wide, and is intended to be thrown by the hand into the heart of the fire. A string is attached by which it may be projected as from a sling. The cartridge is slightly explosive, so as to well disseminate to the greatest extent the substance containing the extinguishing gas. No. 2, or the second sized cartridge, is simply thrown (the cover being torn off) into the water of the engines, which is saturated with a substance producing hydrocloric acid gas as soon as the water touches the fire. Experiments have proved that only one-tenth of the water that would have been necessary to extinguish a fire is requisite when the cartridges are mixed with it, and that the saving of time is in the same ratio. The cost of these cartridges is trifling."

Another Trouble —Some of our "Conservative" friends, whose misfortune it seems to be to suspect everybody and to find fault with everything, are indulging their propensity to grumble by saying that it never was the intention of the "Radicals" to admit the South into Congress, even if the constitutional amendment should be adopted The action of Congress in the case of Tennessee is a sufficient answer to this reckless assertion. Everybody knows that the Tennessee members were admitted immediately after the ratification of the amendment by the Tennessee Legislature. This case would have been a precedent for all the rest But as the amendment has been generally rejected at the South, another course must be adopted.

Draws Out —The San Jose (Cal.) Patriot, a paper controlled by a disappointed bread and butterist, deprecates the political wickedness of these times, and abandons the field thus

It is a tempest of political fury and madness as ever desolated France. We can do no good—we cannot stay it We shall henceforth cease to oppose it. We sever our connection for the present with politics

Here's an example some of the Demi-Johnson organs in this State would do well to imitate

The Copperheads have been boasting of late that they have a letter from General Sherman, endorsing Johnson's policy It turns out that this letter was written last February before John son's policy was developed and while its author was pretending that it was merely an "experiment."

Auburn, New York, the home of the celebrated sage who wanted to be "counted out" in case the Dem Johnson Bread and Butter-nut combination did not carry New York by forty thousand majority, gave a large increased majority for the Republican-Union ticket in the late election.

The arrest of Surratt, one of Lincoln's assassins, is due principally to Hon John Bigelow, our Minister to France Boutwell says that Seward and Johnson have known for many months the whereabouts of Surratt

STATE ITEMS

The Lafayette Courier relates an incident that lately occurred in Yandalia City which had a most traumatic termination An altercation sprung up between two gentlemen and words ensued, which led to disappointment and a challenge to fight with rifles at 80 rods distance. Both parties met on the ground, and at the word fired, when one of the gentlemen fell dead, shot through the heart. The survivor immediately left the ground and has not been heard of since.

An accident occurred at the residence of D O Quick in Washington county on the night of the 6th inst which terminated fatally to the injured party three days afterwards A man named John A Bigham was found in bed in the second story of the building and in returning to it fell down a stairway receiving fatal injuries on the head and spine The deceased was about 35 years of age He was of German parentage He was born with the enlisted in the army as a private and served in Missouri and California and in the Yakima war

In Yamhill county there are 12 saw mills in constant running order at present and eight mill One of these mills runs day and night, cutting away while the others use the daylight alone. The mill keeps three men employed in the woods and two at the mill. The product of these mills falls short of meeting the local demand for lumber To two of these mills planers are attached where in first-rate lumber, mostly dressed. There are 5 planing mills in the county, whereat the bulk of the wheat crop is annually converted into a superior article of flour. Three distilleries and two cooperages employ twenty dry goods and grocery stores five drug stores seventeen blacksmith shops two harness and saddlery establishments three wagon and two cabinet shops three villages and four towns flourish in the county at the present time There were six brick kilns burnt in the county the present season

Brownlow's Message —Gov Brownlow in his message to the Tennessee Legislature expresses sentiments of patriotism that cannot fail to sink deep into the heart of every freedom loving Union man, and concludes as follows

I am happy to announce to you officially that since your last adjournment, when the President had not only abandoned us but as I have reason to believe, was contemplating the overthrow of the State Government the Congress of the United States by joint resolution, have solemnly recognized it, and declared it to be the lawful Government of the State of Tennessee and have admitted our Representatives and Senators to their seats, and our noble State has resumed all its relations to the American Union In the struggle which yet awaits us we can look alone to the great body of the loyal American people to sustain and protect us In this connection I congratulate you and the country on the recent triumph at the ballot box in the loyal States of sound national principles as represented by Congress, over the insane policy of the President The victory was obtained by the Union people over a party consisting of a combination of rebels at the South and traitors at the North sustained by the power and patronage of the President. As it was decided in the field of the great military struggle that this nation shall live so it has been decided at the ballot box that loyal men alone shall govern it. The great heart of the loyal people is in sympathy with us, and they will require representatives to sustain us against the assaults of rebels at home or the usurpation of an unscrupulous President The loyal people in advance of their leaders, have declared that the Government shall not pass into the hands of its enemies and that the people of the rebellious States, who labored for four years to destroy the Government shall not be restored to fellowship in the Union without proper guarantees for the future safety of the country It has been, moreover, determined at the ballot-box in the loyal States that loyal men North and South shall be protected, that the basis of representation throughout the Union shall be equal that leading and malignant traitors shall not hold office, that the doors of Congress shall not be open to blood stained rebels, merely because the President so orders, and, also, that the President has no right to set up a policy in opposition to the policy inaugurated by the representatives of the people—in short that "traitors shall take back seats," and "treason shall be made odious"

A Protest —The Methodist, a leading journal of the M E Church, published at New York, thus protests against the idea now extensively inculcated, that the rebellion was not a crime

The South needs to know that we are not treating it as a merely unfortunate, or merely erring people, but as inexpressibly guilty—as having done violence to the divine authority of just government, as having committed an immeasurable enormity against society, and therefore against God The interests of public morality require not only that such a conviction be entertained, but that it be most audibly declared We demoralize the public conscience and endanger the moral grounds of the stability of the country by evading or ignoring this just view of the case We especially thereby foster in the South its own self complacent evasion of its guilt. The five or six hundred thousand men—(more than one-half of them self devoted martyrs for the laws of their country—the flower of our young manhood)—who have fallen in this war, have every one of them been sacrificed, and their blood cries from the ground unto God against the instigators of the rebellion. There is not one of these public criminals who has not, according to the laws of every civilized nation on the earth, forfeited his life to the injured State The question of the expediency of punishment in all or in any such cases, is not the matter we are now concerned about, but this universal sentiment of enlightened common wealths on crimes against the life of the State, is a verdict of the moral sense of the world, and needs to be distinctly recognized as in contrast with the obvious spirit of the South

Sad Affair in the California State Prison —A correspondent of the Times, at San Quentin, sends the following account of how three men were killed on the 4th inst., by "damp choke"

Five prisoners went into the tunnel which drains the prison yard, for the purpose of removing some obstruction After having proceeded some distance—say forty feet—they encountered the foul air or underground "damps," which prostrated them. Two made their way out, dragging with them "Indian Billy," late from Sacramento, who was quite dead when brought to the open air. A brave young German, named Hylton, who came recently from Humboldt county, rushed in and secured another Returning for the remaining man, he was himself overcome, and remained a corpse in the tunnel, The bodies were all recovered later in the day. Hylton was a fine looking young man, sent to the State Prison for one year, and had occupied the position of Orderly Sergeant in one of the California regiments during the late war The officers in charge of the prison will erect an appropriate headstone over the grave of poor Hylton, as a token of their regard for an selfish sacrifice of his own life to recover his fellow prisoner from an untimely death

Jesting at the Point of Death —When the news was received from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Iowa, the Washington Republican, Johnson's recognized organ, facetiously said

A double-headed leader on the election yesterday, intended for to day's paper, is postponed until November

November came, and the Republican now discourses in the following humorous style

Up to the hour of going to press (4 A. M.) the election returns generally were quite small Those of the "National Union party" had not even begun to come in Owing to their meagerness, and out of charity, we postpone all comments until to-morrow. Perhaps something in favor of our party may turn up before daylight. Never too late to be hopeful In the meantime we are feeding our bantam rooster on "hard tack" and perusing the October leader

Comparisons not Odious —Several of the papers have been running a parallel between George Washington and Jeff Davis The following is best

"George Washington—First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen" Jeff Davis—First in rebellion, first in petit coats, and last in the jail of his countrymen

Snow fell at Walla Walla on the 12th inst to the depth of two inches—the first that has fallen there during the winter

The Postoffice at Wallula has been made a distributing office So says the Walla Walla States man

A company has been formed with a capital of $1,000,000 to construct warter works for Indianapolis

"'TIS WELL."—ELLSWORTH & CALDWELL, 89 First street, (Postoffice Block) would again call attention to the fact, that unless those parties want no PICTURES call at their GALLERY before January 1st, they will be sure to regret it The distinguished operator of this establishment leaves the city after NEW YEAR'S DAY, and all those who desire SUN PEARLS, CARTES DE VISITE AMBROTYPES etc, in the very first style of the art should go at once Negatives taken in all kinds of weather

PICTURE GALLERY.—W R JONES having taken the gallery corner of Front and Morrison streets, Portland, would announce to the public that he is making PHOTOGRAPHS from Locket to Lifesize AMBROTYPES, MELAINOTYPES SUN PEARLS and CARTE DE VISITE, plain or enameled, in the best style of the art If you want card pictures with the most beautiful enamel at lower prices than can be had in the city or State go to JONES' GALLERY corner of Front and Morrison dec1 d2m2p

CONSUL GENERAL —It may be of interest to some to know that Prussia after having appointed a Consul General to New York but of far greater importance to the citizens of Oregon is the fact that KOHN & FISHEL continue to sell fine custom made clothing at prices that defy competition a visit to their establishment No 111 Front street, will satisfy all of the truth of our assertion

CITY FINANCES.—We have been permitted to copy a statement prepared by the City Auditor, of the expenses of the city for the year 1866. Some of the items, it will be seen, are estimated in part, and may be a few dollars more or less, by exact account at the end of the year. It is believed, however, that the sum total is large enough to cover all incidental expenses to December 31st:

EXPENSES FOR 1866.

Auditor's salary	$1,500 00
Treasurer's salary	1,000 00
City Attorney	1,000 00

Balance for three cisterns	175 40
Extinguishing fire at Harbaugh & Stitzel's mill	87 50
Two fire hydrants	206 00
Fitting up and furnishing Council Chamber	362 00
Fitting up new room in Council building	98 00
Recorder's Court, (in part estimated)	3,636 58
Total	$34,399 73

The above does not include the expenses of the Willamette river Improvements, which have not been definitely footed up. A portion of the amount paid this year on that account belongs properly to the account of last year. An addition of the above total will appear at the end of this year, by whatever may be the sum of fines, &c., levied in the Recorder's Court.

ESTIMATED EXPENSES FOR 1867.

Salary of Auditor & Clerk	$1,500 00
Salary of Treasurer	1,000 00
Salary of City Attorney	1,000 00
Salary of Street Commissioner	1,200 00
Salary of Chief Engineer Fire Department	500 00
Pay of City Surveyor & Assistants	3,500 00
Pay of Assessor	600 00
Pay of Marshal in Recorder's Court	600 00
Pay of two Deputy Marshals	2,400 00
Board and keeping of prisoners in city jail	1,000 00
Gas for street lamps, &c.	4,000 00
Water for cisterns and public buildings	600 00
" Council Chamber	1,200 00
" advertising, &c.	500 00
" of litigation	3,360 00
Expenses of Fire Department	1,000 00
Repairs to cisterns	500 00
Repairs to streets in front Public Property	1,500 00
Lamps and adornment of Plaza	500 00
Repairs to streets improved, and to sewers	1,000 00
" and erection of iron lamp posts	1,500 00
Recorder's Court fines	2,500 00
Interest on city bonds	2,400 00
Steam fire engine	6,000 00
Total	$40,500 00

The total revenue from fines in the Recorder's Court $12,000 00
Leaving a balance against the city $28,500 00

Thus it will be seen that the expenses of 1867, as estimated, will be very far below those of the present year.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL.—We had the pleasure of making a short visit yesterday to the central public school of this city, in company with Mr. J. Failing, one of the Directors. This school is under the superintendence of Prof. S. F. Chadwick, assisted in the higher department, or, as it is called, the Grammar school, by Mrs. Pomeroy; in the Intermediate Department, Miss J. E. Way and Miss Irwin; and in the Primary Department, Miss A. E. Way and Miss Folk. The Grammar school has 92 students, the Intermediate, 83, and the Primary has on the rolls 78, with an average attendance of 140. We went into Mr. Chadwick's department just as a class in Arithmetic had been called, and remained to witness their exercises at the blackboard. The class, though composed of quite young boys and girls, exhibited very surprising familiarity with the principles and arrived at solutions with a rapidity which would have done credit to half the teachers of the State. We remained long enough to hear the students in their early exercises in vocal music, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Dodge. Good time and correct intervention marked this performance. We have seen no more pleasant sight in Oregon than the many cheerful, happy faces that turned to the exercises. It was the same in the Intermediate and Primary departments. We have been often struck with the happy influences upon students of daily exercises in singing, and had we turned aside again, the performance of yesterday in either of the departments of the Public School, would have been enough to re-convert us. We found the Intermediate and Primary Departments, as formerly managed with skill; the scholars orderly and attentive to the directions they received, and those who had been long in the school, proficient in such exercises as are witnessed. We shall long remember the favorable impressions of this visit to the Public School of Portland, of which the city may well be proud.

UMPQUA PRODUCTS.—Mr. W. P. Watson who has recently been through the Umpqua valley, has left at this office some specimens of broom corn and tobacco which grow near Wilbur. The broom corn is much superior to anything of the kind we ever saw grown in the Willamette, and for length of straw is quite equal to the finest crops of California, being over two feet long and very fine and tough. Mr. W. saw cropped sorghums there which were very large and said to yield a great amount of sugar cane. The tobacco shown us, is of large leaf, fine, bright color, and is very little coarser in texture than the West Virginia and Kentucky leaf. Of the flavor we can't so well judge, because it lacks age which all tobacco needs before it is fit for use—becomes aged and mild. Some samples are an average of Umpqua products, and they say, with its industry properly directed, become one of the richest portions of the State.

TO OLYMPIA.—A few days since we had an item in relation to cheap fares between here and Victoria and Olympia, to which $10 was mentioned as about the rate, with side cabin added. Mr. Ballard, of this city, informed by the Pioneer, from a trip to Victoria by way of Olympia, yesterday assured us that the rate to be made for less than $25 including wines, &c., and that the prevailing impression about these fares by the opposition line between Monticello and Olympia is erroneous. When he went over, he paid the above fare, $25, for a horse. We had our first information from a gentleman who, we supposed, knew; and we make this statement that nobody need be deceived by our former item.

CIRCUIT COURT—STRICKLAND, JUDGE.—Proceedings of Wednesday, December 19th, as follows:

W. Collin's wife vs. Clara Hill; report of referees received and decree of partition and acknowledgement of dower in block "M," in the city of Portland, in accordance with report.

Charles Stoll vs. W. Hedrick; motion for a new trial overruled and judgment against plaintiff for costs.

C. Ball, Constable, vs. Jacob Stiltz, Sheriff; submitted to the Court on an agreed statement of facts; the Court decided that the levy made by defendant was valid and he had a right to the possession of the property described in the complaint; judgment against plaintiff for the costs.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.—Certain people may be startled when they hear that some of our prominent citizens have organized a company and incorporated under the laws of the State, for the purpose of building a railroad on the Oregon side of the Columbia river portage at the Cascades. This is the fact, however, and the stock taken, directors elected and a surveyor sent to locate the road, etc. The incorporators are Messrs. W. W. Chapman, J. B. Stark, C. Carter and J. H. Mitchell, and they are, also, the directors.

Judge Wyche, of the Washington Territory Supreme Court, arrived by the Rescue yesterday from Olympia, and will go on this morning to his home, at Walla Walla.

In the U. S. District Court it was stated that the unanimous request of the bar, Judge Deady being absent, was that Court was adjourned till the arrival home of Judge Deady, in the Spring. The Judge expresses the opinion that the Legislative Assembly, now in session at Salem, is very superior to the usual assemblies, and that they will accomplish much useful legislation.

SNAG WANTED.—STEAMER STOPPER.—We learned from the pilot of the Rescue yesterday that the line beyond Yreka was down somewhere; that the rains south of Yreka have been very heavy, the streams swollen so as to be impassable, the bridges washed away, and that the stage had been stopped from the south for three days and no mail had been received for that time. This state of things may continue for some days.

REPAIRS TO THE WHARF.—Messrs. Couch & Flanders have a gang of hands at work, raising the fallen corner of their ware house roof. It will be in place in a day or two, and as good as new. The debris has been removed from the wharf floor, and it is found that the piles sufficiently secure. A few new sills put in and the broken floor relaid, the wharf will be as good or better than before.

A RUMOR AND A QUERY.—A rumor has been whizzing around the streets for several days that "something would come out in a day or two that would make a sensation." "Something" hasn't "come out" yet, but we think we may surmise that it will come out in a day or two, in the shape of an opposition line of steamboats between Portland and the Dalles.

WHEAT FREIGHTS.—Per Senator, Wednesday, 19th, 700 quarter sacks flour, 395 boxes apples, 3 rolls leather, 30 sacks bran, 24 sacks middlings, 9 boxes eggs, 8 half kegs butter and lard, 5 hides, 1 sleigh.

Per Alert: 1384 quarter sacks flour, 1 bale woolen goods, 46 boxes eggs and butter, 31 half bbls lard, 6 sacks feed and 2 coops fowls.

TRIP TO OLYMPIA.—The Rescue arrived from Monticello yesterday, with the mails, several passengers from the Sound, and a cargo mostly of hay. We noticed among the freight, also, a case of tobacco leaves which looked bright and of fine quality, grown on the Columbia bottoms.

The Fidelity sailed last evening, crammed full of freight for Victoria. Several tons offered that could not be taken.

CORRIGAN.—The case decided in Circuit Court yesterday, between Constable Ball and Sheriff Stitzel, grew out of a levy by each officer upon property upon execution, and the first levy, by the Sheriff, was good.

CHARGE DISMISSED.—John McElroy was yesterday charged in the Recorder's Court with larceny—stealing a half cord of wood from the complainant, J. A. Slavin. Upon examination, the charge was dismissed as being without foundation.

STEREOSCOPTICAN.—The stereoscopic exhibition by Mr. Wormser, at Ore Fire Hall, will be worth going to see. A few of his pictures shown last evening to a select audience were pronounced excellent.

FROM THE CASCADES.—The Hunt arrived last evening from the Cascades with 15 or 20 passengers. There was no connection with the boats above, and consequently, no papers or news from Dalles.

IN TOW.—The Alert yesterday towed down the old Steadfast from Oswego, loaded with lumber.

DON'T fail to call at Barman Bros. before they remove to their new store, as they are selling clothing at reduced rates preparatory to moving.

AT PRIVATE SALE.—Mr. Cohen having sold at auction the greater part of his stock of jewelry, will dispose of the balance on very favorable terms at private sale, until New Year. He has yet on hand a choice lot of ladies' jewelry, such as finger and ear rings, breast-pins, neck chains, lockets, etc.

HOLIDAY PRESENTS.—WELL BROS. have a large and varied assortment of fine dress goods—such as Moire antique silk dresses, French and Irish poplins, etc.—which they are selling off at cost, affording an excellent opportunity for the purchase of HOLIDAY PRESENTS. If, as the old adage declares, "Health is the Greatest of Earthly Blessings," then every effort to preserve it pays well.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS
Have been of great service in making people healthy, and keeping them so. They should be found in every household.
They give tone to the Stomach, vigor to the body, and remove dark doubts and unhappy feelings from the mind. They relieve pain and fortify the whole system against the attacks of disease.
There is nothing better to take "for the Stomach's sake" than the PLANTATION BITTERS.
They cure Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Indigestion, Drowsiness, Headache, Pain in the Side, Liver Complaint, and Rheumatic Pains, with magical power.
A good effect is felt at once upon making the first trial. No change of diet is necessary. Eat the best you can get and all you want. Follow our directions and you will soon feel
WELL, STRONG AND HEARTY.
A great many side hits are being made at the Plantation Bitters, by a score or two of disinterested friends who have endeavored to imitate or counterfeit them. It's all of no use. The people won't be imposed upon. The Plantation Bitters are increasing in use and popularity every day, and "that's what's the matter." They are the same sized bottle, and made just as they were at first, and will continue to be, or we shall stop making them.
They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhœa, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. The Recipe and full Circular are around each bottle. Clergymen, Merchants, and persons whose sedentary habits induce weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, liver complaint, constipation, &c., will find immediate and permanent relief in these Bitters. But above all, they are recommended to weak and delicate females and mothers.
They are sold by all respectable merchants. See that each bottle has our private United States Stamp over the cork and steel-plate side label.
Beware of refilled bottles. See that the stamp has not been tampered with. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon is a swindler and impostor, and should be immediately reported to us.

Mustang Liniment.
OVER A MILLION DOLLARS SAVED!
Gentlemen:—"I had a negro man worth $1,200 who took cold from a bad hurt in the leg, and was useless for over a year. I had used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment. It soon effected a permanent cure."
J. L. DOWNING.
Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1859.
"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensable article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches or Galls on Horses. Our men have used it for Burns, Bruises, Sores, Rheumatism, &c., and all say it acts like magic. J. W. HEWITT, Foreman American, Wells, Fargo & and Harnden's, Express.
"The sprain of my daughter's ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.
Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1865. ED. BEELY."
It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man or beast, than any article ever discovered. Families, Steamboat men and planters should always have it on hand. Quite and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing U. S. Stamp of DEMAS BARNES & Co. over the top.
An effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap alone-plate label. Look closely!

Lyon's Katharion.
It is a most delightful Hair Dressing.
It eradicates scurf and dandruff.
It keeps the head cool and clean.
It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy.
It prevents hair turning gray and falling off.
It restores hair upon prematurely bald heads.
This is just what Lyon's Katharion will do. It is pretty—it is cheap—durable. It is literally sold by the carload, and yet its almost incredible demand is daily increasing, until there is hardly a country store that does not keep it, or a family that does not use it.
E. THOMAS LYON, Chemist, N. Y.

Lyon's Extract Ginger.
LYON'S EXTRACT OF PURE JAMAICA GINGER—for Indigestion, Nausea, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, &c., where a warming stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity make a cheap and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere at 50 cents per bottle. Ask for "LYON'S" PURE EXTRACT. Take no other.
CAUTION—See that the private U. S. Stamp of Demas, Barnes & Co. is over cork of each bottle. None other is genuine.

Lyon's Flea Powder.
DEATH TO FLEAS.—It is well known that Lyon's genuine Magnetic Powder will perfectly destroy everything in the shape of fleas, ticks, bed-bugs, roaches, &c.; that it is perfect poison to the insect tribe, but entirely harmless to the human species and domestic animals. The genuine has the signature of E. LYON, and the private stamp of DEMAS, BARNES & Co. Anything else of this kind is an imitation or counterfeit. Any druggist will procure the genuine if you insist you will have no other.

A TALE OF BORDER LIFE.

CHAPTER I.

Sum cars ago, ere the Readman and the Buffalow had give way to the konkering arm of civilizashun and Lokamotiff—ere the virgin forest klaimed suprem sway over wide rolling planes now smilin with the grasse crops and went fields of the emerget Anglow-Saxsen—at the peryod the tired in 1 of the xtensive pine woods boardering the present Stait of Mitchygan a wild, reckles fellow cald 2 fingered Ike. He was a man of jigantick statue, standin near 7 foot hi in his kowhide boots. His complecksbun was swarthy and his noase was broak; but we digres. He lived were we sod; but, to procede, he had 1 dorter named Alice, nown thro ot that seashun of the country as prety Ally Patten. Indeed she well merrited the titil; her soft brown eyes sparcled beneath her marbil forrid, and her hare was orban, like the raise of the settin sun gilting the bows of the fur tree of her forist home; but we will not dwel on this plesing pictchur, but to procede.

"Alice, child," xclaimed a ruff voice, as it opened the door an the manly figger of 2 fingered Ike stroad into the rume, "I go to hunt the Buffolow, so's to have meet fur you, my litel hurd." Then, loaring his voise to mor tenderer tons, he added, "And if enny of them tarnel critter cros my path I'lot daylite thro thar red skins with a bullet from my trusty pitol; but they no too well the mark of 2 fingered Ike."

"Oh I furfher I"—scarcestly xclaimed the maydem, but he was gone.

She sat down and wep; it was in vain she strove to bixy herself with her acksustomed task; something praid onto her mind, and waid down her hoal brite spirit—as if a dark four shaddering of some ill to come. But we must leve her for the present, to foller 2 fingered Ike.

Traveling the woods by a well-known path barling tew the rite, to avoid the rocky crest of Devil's Glen, he emurged on the margin of the plaaid river. He immegiately plunged into thort, and scoted himself on a rock to rest, for he had walked fast and the rode was ruf. But to porcede.

He had not ben seated long when a dark form and 2 glittering ise mite be seen konsealed in the thicket. A feroc struggle now ensude. Bi i gigantick efort he plunged his nife into the quivering fraim of the savidge; he lade dod at his feat a lifeless korps.

"Ah," mutored ower hoare to himself, "the red devil litel new he wastacling 2 fingered Ike;" and, without pawsing for enything further, stroad on.

CHAPTER II.

The son was setin in all its splendor, marking the hovens with bars of krimson and goald, as the fourm of 2 fingered Ike mite hav been seat slowly approachin the seas with which we kommenced this tail. He horen on his shoulders a huge dear, the froot of the chace.

"Alice will welkum me," he murmured to himself, "then I wil forget mi toils."

But he starts. Wat dus he behold? A pile of smoking ruins. Where his poceful hoam wunes stood is chard ashes. But to procede.

He hits his forrid, and cries lowdly for Alice, but only the mocking eoke ansers him. Then he swarse a grate othe that ho wood never rest til he had slade the last of the ackursed tribe of Aossowpanganoes.

CHAPTER III.

Fears roal on, and deep murmurs are heard in the wigwam of the readman; they trembl wen a nameless with hunter is mcnshioned. Near a butt 3 lolt of the wunce powerful tribe of the Aossowpanganoes. A) there rase how bin found ded in the woods with a peeculyar mark on the ferid. As the 3 remaining warryers sat soted by the fire they konverse in lo tones, and point often to the sleping foarm of a fare girl. But to procede. As they got spoke the sharp crak of a rifll is herd in the distans, and I of the read men roals ded onto the fire.

"The wite devil," xclaims boath the remaining Indians, as they spring to their feat and rush with raised tomyhorks to the sleeping figger.

"The wite squar must di," crise the youngest, as his hachet swiftly cloves the air and will in an instant sever the hed of his victim. But sgane is herd the report of the dedly rifll, and the wopon, fals harmles from his hands, struck by the bullet. Both Indeans turn their rage to the enemy; they rush at him; it is the slayher, the dreded wite man. They close in mortal combat; it is a strugle for life or death; it is 2 to 1; 2 Indeans to 1 wits man. They wily Indian, availing himself of the bushes, crepes behind the wite man and jumps on his back and plunges his bloding nife in his bosum. The wite man reals; they are both upon him; it is too much; he falls to the ground bleeding from a 100 woonds; the chefe rases his tomyhork, wen with I scoperhuman efort the wite man rases his rifll and fels him to the erth. As the encouraged by his sucess, he lops to his feat and grapels with the other. It is the hed chefe of the tribe; the strugel is long and feorful; at last, exerting his powrful fraim, he hurls the Indian to the ground and severs his hed from his body. But to procede.

He porses not for a moment, but rushes to the deserted tent of the read man. He looks sagerly round, and seems disorpointed, wen his iye falls on the sleping figer. He neels beside it; she wakes up, and throwing her alms wildly round his neo, crise:

"My father! my father!"

He replies:

"My child! my child!"

It is 2 fingered Ike and prety Ali Patten. The traper has fulfild his othe.

THE END.

The New York Press on the Elections.

The following paragraphs are extracts from several of the New York journals two or three days after the late elections. The first is an extract from the Times, which reasons in this wise:

"From the verdict of Tuesday there is no appeal. Judgment rendered by four States a month ago was held up as one likely to be reserved. The argument has been heard, and nine States have disposed of the points in issue, finally, and with no chance of reversal. There is no further room for doubt or speculation. The country endorses the action of Congress, upholds the Constitutional amendment as the basis of compromise, and explicitly declares the Democratic party unworthy of its confidence."

Upon the result the Tribune says:

"Here then is the reply of the loyal and still advancing North, to the challenge of the President in syllables as plain as the handwriting on the wall, showing that the fatal policy is weighed in the balance and found wanting. Mr. Johnson committed his political foes to ruin. The North responds with radical majorities in nineteen States. Not an inch of ground has been yielded by the loyal vote, and in view of whatever good work may remain to be done, the North is resolved to maintain its standing army of loyal majorities."

The Herlad remarks:

"The general results of the elections, from Massachusetts to Missouri, are overwhelmingly in favor of the constitutional amendment as the ultimatum of the victorious North to the Southern States, rescued from the rebellion. This great issue of the conditions essential to the restoration of said States, is now fixed to the end of President Johnson's term, in the two-thirds Republican vote secured in both houses of Congress, as they now stand, till March 4, 1869. This is the grand and all important lesson of these November elections, a lesson which the administration cannot safely disregard, even if so inclined, and which the States unrecognized by Congress will do well to accept as their only alternative. We are satisfied with all these results, and especially satisfied as to the wisdom of the course adopted by this journal, from the significant verdict of the Maine September election, on the great issue which is to mark the new debarture of this republic in the fulfillment of its manifest destiny."

The Commercial asserts:

"The question at issue was the policy of reconstruction, and the decision is against the policy of the President and in favor of that of Congress. The people have virtually ratified the amendment, and they have virtually said to the South 'Accept these terms and come back to the Union with loyal representatives in Congress.' Congress, by admitting the Tennessee members, has shown a willingness to affirm this method of reconstruction, and contact with the people will strengthen them in this conclusion. It has also been shown them that there is a feeling in favor of strong guarantees from the South, and if the South shall turn its back upon what it deems its dignity, there are men in Congress who will be stimulated to enact severer conditions and so re-open the closing wounds made by the war."

The Evening Post puts it in this light:

"The Republican party, by these elections, retains power for two years more. Mr. Beecher said, very truly, that, wisely managed, it might retain power for half a century, but to achieve that or even to keep the country with it during the next two years, it needs to act prudently, to put its ablest statesman forward, to show that it possesses moderation as well as vigor, and that it knows of other interests in the country besides that one to which all discussion has fixed it hitherto."

A Cologne water factory has been started in Montgomery, Alabama. Wonder how they are off for soap.

Remarkable Case of Fright.

A MAN'S HAIR TURNED WHITE IN A NIGHT.

A Paris correspondent of the Nation relates the case of a well-known mining engineer, who is vouched for as being a man of talent and education, of cool methodical temperament, and about thirty years of age, and has become, most unexpectedly to himself, the hero of a nine days' fit of wonderment on the part of the Parisians, from the fact that his hair, black and usually luxuriant, has been whitened in a single night under the impression of a dream.

"We should not give place to the narrative of this singular adventure," says the editor of the Vays, in whose columns the incident was originally mentioned, "were it not that Mr. C.—— is personally well known to us as a truthful and honorable man, and has himself furnished us with the account we publish, affirming on oath the absolute exactness of every detail therein given."

From the account thus given to the public it appears that Mr. C—— whom inspecting certain mineral tracts in Brittany, stopped one night at a little roadside inn a few hundred yards distant from a mine which he had never seen, but which he purposed visiting next day. Having walked many miles in the course of the day, M. C——, on reaching the inn, felt tired. He accordingly went to bed early, fell asleep at once, and dreamed, he asserts, the following dream: He thought he had just been appointed to the managership of the mine in question, and he was busy in superintending the work of the miners, when the owner of the mine appeared on the ground. This man, rough and ill-bred, addressed the new manager rudely, reproaching him with his inactivity, adding:

"Instead of standing there, with your arms folded, seeing other men work, you had better go down into the mine and draw the plan of it, as you engaged to do."

"I will go down and begin the drawings at once," replied the young engineer, hurt and annoyed at the manner of his employer.

Placing himself forthwith in the basket, he ordered the men at the windlass to let him down into the mine. This was done; the basket reached the bottom, and then summoning a couple of the workmen to precede him with their lamps, he explored the various galleries of the mine, and, having made a plan of the workings, returned to the bottom of the shaft, got into the basket, and gave the signal for the ascent. As he placed himself in the basket he remarked the great thickness of the rope which served to hoist it, and calculated that, the mine being unusually deep, the ascent could scarcely be accomplished in less than a quarter of an hour.

He had been ascending thus for two or three minutes when, chancing to raise his eyes, he espied what seemed to him to be an abrasion of the rope, by which he was being drawn up. Startled by this appearance, he fixed his eyes on the portion of the rope which had attracted his attention, and saw distinctly that the rope was cut a few feet above his head, just out of reach of his hand. His terror at this discovery was such that he nearly fainted. Rousing himself, by force of will, from the stupor of apprehension which had so nearly overcome him, he compelled himself to calmness, and set himself again to examine the rope. Perhaps he was mistaken; he would look again. But no; he was not mistaken. The rope had rubbed against some projection of the rocky walls which hemmed him in, and its strands were untwisting slowly but visibly. At the injured point the thickness of the massive cable was already reduced to less than an inch.

The unfortunate man felt that his doom was sealed; the conviction of the utter hopelessness of his position chilled him to the very marrow of his bones. He tried to call out, but his tongue seemed frozen. Moreover, he felt that, even if he could make himself heard (which was totally impossible, as he was now half way up,) no human aid could reach him. Looking upwards, he could see the daylight at the mouth of the shaft, bright, but distant, like a star. Gazing downwards, over the edge of the basket, at a depth that it made him dizzy and sick to look down to, he could see, like so many glow worms, the lamps of the miners. And the basket, meantime, mounted higher and higher every instant, the rope cracking audibly under the increased strain of the ascent. The unfortunate engineer saw clearly that there was no possibility of escaping the horrible fate awaiting him, and could almost count the seconds that would elapse ere the breaking of the rope must precipitate him into the fearful void below. Such was the intensity of his anguish that he was tempted to abridge its duration by throwing himself down at once, instead of awaiting any longer the inevitable instant. As he hesitated, longing yet fearing to take the fatal leap, the basket reached the mouth of the shaft. He was saved! With a loud cry he leaped from the basket, awaking as he felt once more the solid earth beneath his feet.

The horrible adventure was only a dream; but M. C—— was trembling, exhausted, bathed in perspiration, and incapable of making a movement or uttering a sound. After a time he recovered his self-command so far as to be able to ring for help. The people of the inn hastened to obey the summons, but could not at first recognize their customer of the preceding evening, for his luxuriant raven hair had become perfectly gray. And, stranger than even this physical evidence of the emotions he had undergone during his troubled slumbers, there lay upon his bed, and evidently drawn by his own hand, the plan of the adjacent mine which he was to visit on the following day, but which he had never seen, and of whose internal arrangements he had no idea; and this plan, so unaccountably produced, proved, on examination of the mine, to be absolutely correct in every particular.

So much for the story vouched for by one of the five "leading journals" of this capital; its explanation I leave to the ingenuity of your readers."

The San Francisco Mint.

A correspondent of the Marysville (Cal.) Appeal thus discourses concerning matters relating to the San Francisco Branch Mint;

At length the long agitated questions of a site for the U. S. Branch Mint, in San Francisco, seems to be settled. Collector Miller has been very successful in his endeavors to find a suitable locality. As the plans and specifications for the new building are now in the hands of the Secretary of the Treasury not many months will elapse ere we have, at the corner of Fifth and Mission streets, an establishment which will be in every respect all that can in reason be desired. The old building on Commercial street, which has so long been used for the purposes of the Mint, is too contracted for the business to be carried on with any great degree of comfort to the employees and certainly with but little accommodation to the public. Many people are unaware that under certain regulations the establishment is accessible to visitors, and occasionally they do not see one of the most interesting places in the town. Between the hours of 9 and 12, forenoon, on almost any day anyone can, by applying, be witness to the operation of turning the virgin gold and silver into "current coin of the realm." Every visitor to the Mint signs his name in a great register, kept for the purpose, and following a messenger he is taken through the different sections of the establishment, beginning at the room in which the silver and gold is weighed and receipted for; then into the melting room where he beholds the various processes, chemical and mechanical, which are used to separate all baser substances from the valuable metals. There is no little trouble experienced in bringing the gold to the proper standard of fineness and it requires careful manipulation. After the gold is brought to the standard of 900 fine it is cast into ingots and then rolled into bars, which are cut into flat uniform strips; these strips, go into an adjusting room—"here woman reigns"—ten golden strips are there weighed, those that are too heavy are reduced by filing, and the light weights are returned to the melting room. After the strips leave the adjusting room they are put into the fiery furnace again and heated to a red heat, then the coining machine receives the metal and impresses upon it the emblems of sovereignty of the United States. Here at length the reward of the miner assumes a shape in which many delight and nearly every one desires. The first mint of the United States was established in the year 1792, at the city of Philadelphia. Since that time several branch mints have been created, by law, the most important being those of San Francisco and New Orleans. The business done at the San Francisco mint greatly exceeds that of all the others combined. All the dies and seales, with many other of the necessaries for coining are issued from the parent mint at Philadelphia, and the utmost vigilance is exercised to keep the metal up to the required degree of fineness and the respective coins to the proper weight. Every year the old dies are destroyed in due form. On the money issued from the Philadelphia mint there is no distinctive mark, but under the national coat-of-arms on every piece of money coined at either of the branches is stamped an initial letter to designate its origin. San Francisco issues are marked S; New Orleans O; Dahlonega D, and so on. The curious who have a dollable eagle in their possession may, if they have the curosity to look, either with a pair of good eyes or a magnifying glass, at the bottom of the bust on the reverse of their shiner and see the initials of the die sinker and engraver of the Philadelphia Mint.

IMPORTANCE OF HAVING DAVIS' PAIN KILLER ALWAYS ON HAND.

Extract from his letter, published in the Baptist Missionary Magazine:

"For the first time since I have been in India, I have been stung by a scorpion. I went out this morning to my exercises, as usual, at early dawn, and having occasion to use an old box, on taking off the cover I put my hand on a scorpion, which immediately resented the insult by thrusting its sting into the palm of my hand. The instantaneous and severe pain which darted through the system is quite incredible; what an awful situation pain their sting must contain! I flew to my bottle of DAVIS' PAIN KILLER, and found it to be true to its name; after a few moments' relief, I saturated a small piece of sponge, bound it on my hand, and went about by exercises, feeling no more particular inconvenience."

Below are some of the many testimonials:

This is to certify that I, John H. Jodean, was blind for over nine years, and I tried all means of a cure, and had many doctors, and all of no effect, and I spent all the means I had. Finally, I had to become a county charge, and when I was taken to Dr. G. W. Brown, and started my case to him, and misfortune, he at once commenced to treat my eyes, and now I am well, and commend all those that are suffering with diseases of the eyes to call on Dr. G. W. Brown. The reason why I do this is to let suffering humanity know where they can be cured. J. B. JODEAN.

This is to certify that my daughter was almost blind for over seven years, and was doctored by other physicians without obtaining any relief, when finally I took her to Dr. G. W. Brown, who examined her case, and at once began to give her treatment, and her sight has been entirely restored. I do this to let those who are suffering with diseases of the eyes know where they can obtain a cure. It has been three years since her eyes were cured, and they are yet sound. THOMAS LIVINGSTON.

Dent Creek Precinct, Douglas county, Oregon.

SALEM, July 21, 1866.

This is to certify that I was blind for over four months, and almost blind for one year and a half; I tried several eye doctors but received no benefit; I had almost given my case up as hopeless when fortunately I heard of Dr. G. W. Brown, now of Salem. I was induced to try him; he performed a surgical operation on my eyes, and gave me treatment. I soon began to recover, and in a short time I was perfectly cured. I do this in justice to one who rescued me from a fate worse than death, and also for the benefit of those who are laboring under similar afflictions that they may know where they can get relief. It is now about eight months since my eyes were cured and they still remain good. I can see to read the finest print without difficulty, and my eyes can bear the strongest light without pain.

A. BUSHWILER, Claim Agent.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE PAYMENT OF BOUNTIES, UNDER THE ACT TO EQUALIZE BOUNTIES, APPROVED JULY 28, 1866.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, September 14, 1866.

1. All applications shall be filed within the period of six months, from the 1st day of October, 1866; and before any payments are made, shall be classified by regiments, battalions, or other separate organizations, and no application filed after that period shall be settled until after the former shall have been paid.

2. No application shall be entertained unless accompanied by the original discharge of the soldier and the affidavit required by the fourteenth section of the Act, and the further affidavit that he has not received, nor is he entitled to receive from the United States, under any laws or regulations prior to the Act of July 28, 1866, more than $100 bounty for any and all military service rendered by him during the late rebellion, over and above the amount therein claimed.

3. All applications for the additional bounty authorized by this Act from surviving soldiers shall be in the form hereinafter prescribed, and the evidence of identity shall be the same as is now required, and applications from the heirs of deceased soldiers shall be in the form now required by the Treasury Department.

4. As soon as the examination of the claims of any regiment, or other independent organization, shall have been properly acted upon the Paymaster General shall take the necessary steps for their prompt payment.

5. A register shall be kept in the Paymaster General's office, and also in the office of the Second Auditor, of all claims presented under the law, in which the claimants will be classified by regiments, etc. If the claims be allowed, the amount of bounty paid to each will be noted, and if rejected the cause of rejection will be distinctly stated.

6. In the applications for bounty, as required by the third of these rules, the affidavit shall state each and every period of service rendered by the claimant, and also that he never served otherwise than as he claimed.

7. Organizations irregularly in the service of the United States, called out for special purposes, as State Militia, Home Guards, etc., and not included in the general bounty laws, are not included within the meaning of the Act.

8. Soldiers enlisted for "three years or during the war," who were discharged by reason of the termination of the war, shall be considered as having served out the period of their enlistment, and are entitled to bounty under this Act.

9. The minority of heirs, claimants for bounty under this Act, must be proven to have existed at the date of its passage. Parents shall receive jointly the bounty to which they may be entitled as heirs, unless the father has abandoned the support of his family, in which case it shall be paid to the mother. Non-residence in the United States shall not be a bar to the claim of heirs, who would otherwise legally inherit.

The provisions of the Act exclude from its benefits the following classes:

1. Those who, after serving the full period of their enlistment, were dishonorably discharged at its expiration.

2. Those discharged during enlistment by way of favor or punishment.

3. Those discharged on account of disability contracted in the service, but not occasioned by wounds received "in the line of duty," who shall not have previously served two or three years respectively at the time of discharge.

4. Those discharged on account of disability existing at the time of their enlistment.

5. The heirs of those who have died since their discharge of wounds or disease not contracted in the service and in the line of duty.

6. The surviving soldiers and heirs of deceased soldiers who, under previous laws, have received or are entitled to receive a bounty of more than $100 from the United States.

7. The surviving soldiers, as well as the heirs of deceased soldiers, when such soldiers have bartered, sold, assigned, loaned, transferred, exchanged or given away their final discharge papers, or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other Act of Congress.

8. By Act of the 28th of July, 1866, creates no right of inheritance beyond those vested by the laws under which three heirs received or were entitled to receive the original bounty, and debars certain classes, brothers and sisters of heirs that were entitled to receive the original bounty, from any claim for the additional bounty provided by this Act.

Respectfully referred to the Attorney General for his opinion on the point whether the rules and regulations as within amended are in conformity with law.
